INTRODUCTION

The Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) is the primary source of federal support for the nation’s libraries and museums. IMLS administers the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA), which provides financial assistance to develop library services throughout the United States.

The North Dakota State Library Five-Year Plan establishes goals and priorities for libraries in North Dakota that are consistent with the LSTA’s purposes and priorities.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The North Dakota State Library is a division of the Department of Public Instruction. It is designated as the State Library Administrative Agency of North Dakota for the receipt of federal LSTA funds.

The North Dakota State Library has been serving the people of North Dakota and their state government since 1907. While the State Library today serves many constituencies, its primary constituents are: libraries and educators, state government agencies, and the general public.

Libraries across North Dakota greatly depend on the North Dakota State Library for assistance in processing interlibrary loans, cataloging, reference services, on-site training, grants, and promotional support. The State Library has developed a close partnership with North Dakota’s libraries and educators by connecting them to information and providing them with the critical tools they need to serve their patrons.

State government agencies rely on the North Dakota State Library for a range of vital services, chief among them: providing research assistance, training, cataloging services of which the State Library currently catalogs for 11 state agencies, and administering the State Document Depository Program, which preserves and distributes North Dakota state agency publications.

The North Dakota State Library offers a unique benefit to the citizens of our state by providing professional research services, access to Online Library Resources, interlibrary loan, talking books for the visually impaired, and checking out materials to the general public.

The North Dakota State Library’s chief stakeholders are:

- Libraries: All public, school, academic, and special libraries.
- Education: Students, educators, public and private K-12 schools, colleges, and universities.
- State and Local Government Entities and Agencies: All state, city, and county government entities and agencies.
- General Public: The citizens of the state of North Dakota.
MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the North Dakota State Library is making connections, strengthening communities, and enriching lives for all North Dakotans. In fulfilling this mission, the North Dakota State Library delivers the following two essential services:

1) Providing leadership, directional, and developmental assistance to North Dakota’s library community, and
2) Ensuring the availability of information, resources, and materials to the public.

NORTH DAKOTA STATE LIBRARY’S VISION AND VALUES

The vision of the North Dakota State Library, as identified in the library’s 2016-2019 Strategic Plan, is: Providing pathways to information and innovation.

This vision is built upon the following three core values:

• To be an integral part of the lives of our users,
• To provide prompt, courteous, and professional customer service, and
• To select, organize, and preserve information resources.

These values, when combined with our mission and vision, drive our work and shape the goals and priorities outlined in this Five-Year Plan.
FEDERAL LSTA PURPOSES AND PRIORITIES

1) Expand services for learning and access to information and educational resources in a variety of formats, in all types of libraries, for individuals of all ages in order to support such individuals’ needs for education, lifelong learning, workforce development, and digital literacy skills.

2) Establish or enhance electronic and other linkages and improve coordination among and between libraries and entities for the purposes of improving the quality of access to library and information services.

3) (A) Provide training and professional development, including continuing education, to enhance the skills of the current library workforce and leadership, and advance the delivery of library information services, and (B) enhance efforts to recruit future professionals to the field of library and information services.

4) Develop public and private partnerships with other agencies and community-based organizations.

5) Target library services to individuals of diverse geographic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds, to individuals with disabilities, and to individuals with limited functional literacy or information skills.

6) Target library and information services to persons having difficulty using a library and to underserved urban and rural communities, including children (from birth through age 17) from families with incomes below the poverty line (as defined by the Office of Management and Budget and revised annually by the federal government) applicable to a family of the size involved.

7) Develop library services that provide all users access to information through local, state, regional, national, and international collaborations and networks.

8) Carry out other activities consistent with the purposes set forth in federal law.
NEEDS ASSESSMENT

The North Dakota State Library conducted nine focus group sessions across the state between August 22 and November 9, 2016. Participants included librarians and library support staff from public, academic, school and special libraries, North Dakota State Library staff, and members of the North Dakota Library Coordinating Council.

In addition to the focus group sessions, a random survey of Talking Book patrons was conducted to measure service satisfaction and solicit constructive feedback.

Six questions were asked in each session. These questions were designed to provoke discussion, promote critical analysis, and identify the needs of librarians and the public. During the evaluation and planning process, participants were asked to identify the most important library services and programs.

Upon completion of the research phase, the information was organized, interpreted, and analyzed by the State Librarian and the Assistant State Librarian. Four focal areas were identified as most important to the North Dakota State Library and the state’s library community. It was determined that these four focal areas are consistent with the purposes of LSTA and serve as the basis for the goals and priorities as outlined in this Five-Year Plan.

The following goals and priorities were identified:

1) Information Access
2) Institutional Capacity and Support
3) Lifelong Learning
4) Human Services

Needs

The assessment clarified the needs for the following six library services:

• Interlibrary Loan: All North Dakotans need access to books and materials provided through the state’s interlibrary loan program.

• Statewide Cataloging: Statewide cataloging supports local library development and efficiencies; provides accurate records for local catalogs, the statewide catalog and OCLC’s WorldCat; and is the basis of interlibrary loan services in the state.

• Library Development: On-site consulting and continuing education to librarians and library professionals provide needed training that many would otherwise not receive due to local municipal budget constraints.

• I.T. Support: Continued I.T. support to libraries is a necessity, especially for rural community libraries that have no I.T. support to back up their public library computer access and WiFi services which are often the only public access points in the community.
• Database Access: North Dakota’s large geographical area and rural population benefit from the Databases provided by the ND State Library. The ease of access and cost efficiencies are two main reasons this service makes sense for citizens of North Dakota.

• Talking Book Services: All disabled North Dakotans need access to talking books and disability support services to ensure their formal and informal literacy needs are met.

Statewide resource sharing, reference services, and services provided to persons with disabilities will be evaluated through the use of data gathered in annual statistical reports, user surveys measuring customer satisfaction, focus groups, site visits, and informal feedback from library patrons.

Customer surveys, evaluations, focus group sessions, and interviews will be used to evaluate programs.

The results of all evaluations will be filed for future use in the final assessment of this Plan and for consultation in the development of the next Five-Year Plan.

STAKEHOLDER INPUT

Ongoing input will be sought through focus groups and evaluations to determine the library, informational, and educational needs of North Dakota’s libraries, librarians, state officials, students, and citizens.

The North Dakota Library Coordinating Council will serve as the advisory council to the LSTA program and will continue to update Library Vision, the long-range plan for North Dakota’s libraries.

The North Dakota State Library, the North Dakota Library Association, and the North Dakota Library Coordinating Council will work cooperatively to provide training programs, support the development of libraries, proactively address issues facing the library community, plan for the future of North Dakota’s libraries, and advocate on behalf of libraries, librarians, and patrons.
COMMUNICATION AND PUBLIC AVAILABILITY

Upon approval, the 2018-2022 LSTA Five-Year Plan for North Dakota will be made available on the State Library’s website, where it will be posted for the entire five-year period.
