The Native Village of Afognak will focus on developing Alutiiq resources sections at the Kodiak Public and Nadia Mullan Heritage Libraries and create eight digital interactive stories called Qbooks. The work addresses needs and action steps identified at the 2014 Alutiiq Language Symposium to advance the Alutiiq language revitalization movement. The new Alutiiq language resources will expand the availability of native languages to tribal members, the Kodiak community, the surrounding six villages, and the lower 48 states.

Sealaska Corporation – Juneau, AK
Grant Program: Native American Library Services
Project Type: Enhancement Grants
Log Number: NG-03-15-0022
Award Amount: $147,959

The first objective of this project is to preserve and care for a unique collection of 338 video recordings of traditional Southeast Alaska Native song and dance performances. The performances were presented at “Celebration” cultural festivals, sponsored by the Sealaska Heritage Institute between 1982 and 1992. These videotapes are old and inaccessible due to their outdated format, and are in critical need of preservation measures. The recordings will be made widely available to tribal members, educators, scholars, and the public, and specific steps will be taken to facilitate the use of Celebration content as educational tools by K-12 teachers and university instructors. These efforts will provide for the preservation and accessibility of a significant cultural collection, foster greater understanding of tribal values and traditions, and promote cross-cultural education.

Chilkat Indian Village – Haines, AK
Grant Program: Native American Library Services
Project Type: Enhancement Grants
Log Number: NG-03-15-0036
Award Amount: $149,998

The Chilkat Indian Village Library designed a program that will focus on Tlingit culture, tribal history, and impacts of library and cultural services with the goal of increasing community knowledge of tribal cultural history, media literacy, and life and career skills. The library will present programs, develop collections, provide increased access to cultural resources, and create five films that record tribal lands history. Project staff will work with mentors to build skills and will develop an evaluation tool that spans a decade of services. They will analyze long-term impacts of cultural and library services that have been provided in order to better understand how to design effective programs and services in the future. The overarching goal is to promote the library as a strong community anchor that will enhance civic engagement, cultural opportunities, and economic vitality for tribal members, researchers, others who use library services or view the films, tribal council, and the village.

Log Number: NG-04-15-0043
Award Amount: $132,159

The Leiholu project will purposefully link patrons and families with library and community resources that build their sense of place, community, and self. Through three community libraries, the project will increase access to library and community resources to underserved and rural communities with large populations of indigent families. The libraries will provide increased hours of operation and workshops highlighting individuals' history of place. They will also increase the availability of place-based materials focused on the Native Hawaiian culture through the Hawaiian Electronic Library, called "Ulikau." The activities aim to not only foster a love of learning, but also provide patrons the building blocks for resiliency as they work their way toward economic, social, educational and cultural self-sufficiency.

Grant Program: Native Hawaiian Library Services
Project Type:
Log Number: NG-04-15-0045
Award Amount: $130,010

Hula Preservation Society will undertake detailed and lengthy preparation of six distinct sets of content (moving and still images) for sharing online via two respected and established repositories, namely Ulikau: The Hawaiian Electronic Library, and the Papakilo Database Project. The project activities include digitizing, researching, editing, cataloging, interviewing elders, verifying content, entering metadata into database, prepping moving and still image materials for delivery, prepping metadata for delivery, and testing online access for each. Through this project and established partnerships, the valuable content will be made available for the first time to Native Hawaiians across the country.

Papahana Kuaola – Kaneohe, HI
Grant Program: Native Hawaiian Library Services
Project Type:
Log Number: NG-04-15-0046
Award Amount: $149,909

The project of Papahana Kuaola will provide Native Hawaiian students effective literacy opportunities that are culture-based and responsive to their learning styles. The project target students, teachers, and community members on the islands of Oahu, Molokai and Lanai to increase interest in reading through understanding and appreciation of traditional Hawaiian literature. Through sharing mo'olelo (stories) on a fieldtrip experience, participants will learn about the natural, cultural, and historical sites on these islands. A student reader will be developed to support and guide this learning experience.

Grant Program: Native American Library Services
Project Type: Enhancement Grants
Log Number: NG-03-15-0025
Award Amount: $51,863

The Bay Mills Community College Library has two main goals for this project: to introduce area children (from infants to teens) to more literature, and to increase the public's awareness of the library as a community center where all ages feel welcome. It will be partnering with two local schools and one childcare center in order to accomplish these goals. This multi-faceted approach will include the following activities: book giveaways, youth book clubs, scheduled visits to the library, lessons at the public school library, family reading events, and community open houses. New books and technology will be purchased for classrooms, the local school library, and the library's own children's collection so that the library will be able to offer area children larger, updated collections.

Log Number: NG-03-15-0013
Award Amount: $146,864

With this award, the Yakama Nation will revive the existing outdated library collection with relevant new books, and audio and video resources. The library staff will focus on professional development in cataloging, reading literacy, and collection development in order to facilitate, support, and assist patrons in meeting their information retrieval needs. The library will also collaborate with the Yakama Nation Tribal School to select readings to enhance student project-based learning research needs. The Yakama Nation envisions building upon their collaborative success by updating the library collection and promoting reading. These developments will enhance library programming, promote reading, and generate enthusiasm for reading at Head Start facilities and at library story hours.

Nisqually Indian Tribe – Olympia, WA
Grant Program: Native American Library Services
Project Type: Enhancement Grants
Log Number: NG-03-15-0032
Award Amount: $40,492

The Nisqually Tribe will utilize a StoryCorps recording studio within the tribal library to record the stories of tribal members. Trained staff will use the recording technology to facilitate sessions where tribal members exchange and share their stories with each other. These recordings will then become part of the knowledge the tribe can share from the tribal library's collection and will be preserved for future generations.
